By amplifying the voices that spark global change, the Anthem Awards are defining a new benchmark for impactful work that inspires others to take action in their communities.

Launched in 2021 by The Webby Awards, The Anthem Awards honors the purpose & mission-driven work of people, companies and organizations worldwide. By amplifying the voices that spark global change, we're defining a new benchmark for impactful work that inspires others to take action in their own communities. The Anthem Awards honors work across seven core causes: Diversity; Equity & Inclusion; Education; Art & Culture; Health; Human & Civil Rights; Humanitarian Action & Services; Responsible Technology; and Sustainability, Environment & Climate.

For the past six years, the rePROs Fight Back podcast has been committed to discussing issues related to sexual and reproductive health, rights, and justice. In the last year, with the loss of Roe, this work has become even more important. As a result, the podcast has expanded into a larger initiative, which has included education and advocacy efforts on global and domestic sexual and reproductive health, rights, and justice issues through resources and additional ways to take action. The initiative also began releasing episodes on a weekly basis.

In response to the Anthem Awards, Host and Director of rePROs Fight Back Jennie Wetter said:

“Creating and hosting rePROs Fight Back has been a labor of love. We have a wonderful team fighting for sexual and reproductive health, rights, and justice for all. It is more imperative than ever that people learn about the myriad of ways their rights are under attack and what actions they can take to fight back. I am so proud of the hard work all of us at rePROs Fight Back have done to educate and empower our audience. We are overwhelmed and grateful to be a finalist for two Anthem Awards. This recognition fills us with fire to continue leading in fight for bodily autonomy.”
